V. The hiring official should assure that the application materials of all candidates are complete.
   A. The hiring official should assure that an Applicant Monitoring form (AMF) and a letter explaining the purpose of the AMF are sent to each applicant as their application materials are received. AMF are used to help track our progress in taking affirmative action to overcome the discriminatory effects of traditional policies and procedures with regards to the disabled, minorities, women and Vietnam-era veterans. Vital to achieving success with our affirmative action plan is in receiving a high number of AMF’s in return.
      - A copy of the AMF and the letter are available through the Affirmative Action office or can be found on its web page.
        http://www.iusb.edu/~aaoffice/searchandscreen.shtml
      - If applicants provide an email address, IU South Bend prefers that the AMF be emailed to the applicants along with a signed cover letter from the hiring official. Scanned signatures are acceptable.

Grade Levels 1-4

- If applicants do not provide an email address, send the AMF and the signed cover letter along with a return envelope via the U.S. Postal Service.
- The job title of the vacant position and the department that the position will reside should be typed or stamped on the corresponding lines (see boxed area) on the form. This will allow the Affirmative Action office to file each form in the correct position folder for future needs.
- If the AMF is emailed, have applicants return the document via email to aaoffice@iusb.edu. If the AMF is sent via U.S. Postal Service a return envelope should be addressed to the attention of the Affirmative Action office.

B. The review of application materials should begin after the application deadline or after a reasonable period if no deadline was specified.

C. The hiring official can establish a cut-off date after which application materials will not be considered as long as this date is uniformly and consistently applied. Conversely, the hiring official may elect to review application materials that were submitted after the cut-off date as long as all late applications are reviewed in the same consistent and uniform manner.

D. The hiring official should develop a short list of candidates to be interviewed. The recommendation should include an evaluation of each candidate and documentation as to the reasons each was selected or when appropriate not selected.

E. The hiring official should secure Human Resource and Affirmative Action concurrence to interview candidates. The Director, Human Resources and the Director, Affirmative Action reserve the right to request additional clarification or suggest additional candidates for interview.

G. The hiring official (or Search and Screen Committee if used) should submit the proposed interview schedules to the Vice Chancellor/Division head (or to the hiring official if a committee was used), the Director, Human Resources and the Director, Affirmative Action for approval.

H. The hiring official should prepare and appropriately publicize the approved candidate interview schedules.

I. Upon completion of the interview process, the hiring official should submit its recommendations to the Director, Human Resources and the Director, Affirmative Action. Professional staff positions also call for approval from the next level supervisor up to and including the Vice Chancellor of that unit. (if a committee was used they should submit to the hiring official a summary of the strengths and weaknesses of each candidate interviewed).

VII. A verbal offer of employment may be made by the hiring official only with the endorsement of the Director, Human Resources and the Director, Affirmative Action. If the position is a director level position approval from the Chancellor is also necessary. For non-director level positions, the Vice Chancellor of that unit should inform the Chancellor of the hiring decision.

VIII. The hiring official should assure that a candidate’s prior employment and education credentials have been verified before making a verbal offer of employment. The Office of Human Resources will perform a background check for criminal history and sex offender records and can assist with education verification if requested.

IX. With these approvals and validation of references, the hiring official extends a verbal offer of employment. Upon acceptance of the verbal offer, the candidate must sign a ‘Background Check Consent Statement’ (w:\FORMS\HumanRes\Background Check Consent Statement.pdf) to which the candidates social security number and date of birth is added. This form is given to Human Resources who then conduct criminal history background investigation and sex offender registry check.
