HIST-T 390 LITERARY & INTELLECTUAL TRAD (3 CR)
33613    MW    2:30p-3:45P    DW1285    Zwicker L

VT: National Socialism

In the National Socialist period, Germans unleashed a wave of violence across Europe that ultimately resulted in the death of fifty to seventy million people. Led by an explicitly scientific racism, National Socialist leaders sent millions of Jews to gas chambers, annihilated the leadership of Poland, carried out a race-war against Russia, and worked millions of other Europeans to death in slave camps. This period can serve as a warning to all wealthy democratic nations of what might happen when the vast powers in modern societies are oriented towards destruction. Over the course of the semester students will consider two central questions: What accounts for the breakdown in German democracy? To what extent are all Germans responsible for the crimes of the National Socialist state?
POLITICAL SCIENCE

POLYS-Y 107 INTRO TO COMPARATIVE POLITICS (3 CR)
30816  TR  08:30A-09:45A  DW 1275  Lisoni C
5658   TR  11:30A-12:45P  DW 1285  Lisoni C

Examines countries around the world to investigate fundamental questions about politics. Topics include democratic development, promotion of economic prosperity, maintenance of security, and management of ethnic and religious conflict. Critical thinking skills encouraged. Cases for comparison include advanced industrialized democracies, Communist and formerly Communist countries, and developing countries.

POLYS-Y 109 INTRO TO INTL RELATIONS (3 CR)
5566  MW  10:00A-11:15A  EA 1010  Karakatsanis N
5851   TR  10:00A-11:15A  DW 1185   Karakatsanis N

In an ever-changing world, international relations are increasingly important. The past few years alone, India and Pakistan threatened each other with tests of nuclear weapons; the Palestinian-Israeli peace process broke down, and terrorists struck the World Trade Center and the Pentagon; the United States fought wars in Afghanistan and Iraq; and Sudan continued to be torn by conflict. This course examines our role in such affairs and, in particular, such topics as power, war, terrorism, security, poverty, environmental degradation, interdependence, cooperation and peace.

POLYS-Y 343 Politics of International Development (3 CR)
4962  MW  02:30P-03:45P  EA 1017  Lisoni C

An overview of contemporary politics in Third World societies. Major theories of political development are emphasized along with an analysis of issues concerning militarism, political participation, appropriate technology, and resource allocation. North-south relations are highlighted.

POLYS-Y 350 POLITICS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION (3 CR)
30879  MW  01:00P-02:30P  DW 1175  Karakatsanis N

Study of the politics of the European Union (EU). Assesses past and present dynamics of economic and political integration in Europe, the structure and work of EU institutions, and EU public policies such as the Single Market, the common currency, common foreign and security policy, and trade.
SOCIOLOGY

SOC-S 362 WORLD SOCIETIES & CULTURES (3 CR)
4941 Spring Break Sernau S
VT: OVERSEAS STUDY IN COSTA RICA

1. To use the vivid contrasts of another culture and society to deepen students' understanding of key social science concepts, including the evolution and intermingling of cultural patterns and forms: social divisions along lines of class, gender and ethnicity; the development, interaction and importance of major social institutions such as family, political economy and religion; and the dynamics of social change involved in urbanization, globalization and incorporation into the world economy.

2. To provide students with an overview of the culture and history of Costa Rican from its indigenous origins, through its colonial period and its democratic transformation to the present, as well as to examine future possibilities.

3. To explore the human ecology of development, the interaction between people and their environment, and to explore and assess Costa Rican efforts toward sustainable development in urban and rural economies, agriculture and agribusiness, and tourism and ecotravel.
