2013 FRG Closing Report - Elizabeth A. Bennion (POLs)

1. Description of grant-supported activity
Research and writing of a chapter on experiential education in political science and international relationship.

2. Were you able to complete the project? Describe any difficulty you had.
Yes. There were no unforeseen difficulties in completing this project. Although the editors had to push forward the publication date (when working with numerous editors, the publisher, and an external reviewer), the final version of my chapter has been submitted and accepted for publication, including all revisions and responses to the editors and reviewer.

3. Did, or will, the project result in a specific product -- a manuscript, composition, syllabus, etc? If so, please describe and indicate state of development.
Yes. This chapter is scheduled to be published as part of the Handbook on Teaching and Learning in Political Science and International Relations to be published by Edward Elgar Press. The lead editor of this book project is Dr. John Ishiyama (lead editor of the discipline's top journal, the American Political Science Review). The editors and UK-based publisher anticipate an international audience for this book.
